THE CLOUD.

The cloud lay low in the heavens:
  Such a tinted cloud it seemed,
Just lightly touching the sea's broad breast,
Where the rosy light lingered across the west
Soft and grave as in innocence rest,
  Wh're the gold at swart it gleamed.

It looked such a harmless cloudlet,
  Seen over the sleeping wave,
Yet the weather-eyed mariner shook his head,
As slowly it crept in the dusky red,
"See! the rocket lines are clear," he said
  And his lips set stern and grave.

And e'er ever the eve was midnight,
  That cloud was towering black,
Dimmed the light of the stars away,
Dimmed the light of the fierce spray,
As the breakers crashed in the northern bay,
  Winds howling on their track.

So in life's fair and morning
  Make a tiny care or cross
Just trouble the peaceful course of love,
As if the strength of its sway to prove,
As if to whisper, my surface may move,
  But my roots can laugh at loss.

It may seem such a little jarring,
  Only experience sighs,
For, with years and learning to sharpen the graces,
He sees the "rift in the lute" advance,
Knows how fate may seize upon circumstance
  To sever the closest ties.

Ah, me! in the fires of tempest
  The tempest its work may do;
But what can courage or skill avail
When the heart lies wrecked by passion's gale,
When change or death has turned the sail,
  When treason has bribed the crew.

Then watch, oh! hope and gladness,
  Watch for the rising cloud;
Sun it away, frank warmth of youth,
Blow it away, bright breeze of truth;
For, oh! there is neither mercy or truth
  Should it once your heaven enshroud.

Select Story.

NITHISDALE'S ESCAPE.

Among the Jacobites who joined in the first Stuart rising in 1715, was the Earl of Nithisdale, and the sudden failure of the revolt consigned him to the Tower. Every effort to avert the doom of death had failed; but in his countess he had a friend whom no fear could dishearten.

With that self-reliance so peculiar to her, she resolved on a step which seemed as rash and imprudent at first sight as it afterward proved the contrary. Having observed pretty closely the character of Mrs. Mills, of whom she had hired lodgings in Drury Lane, London, she sent for her to her apartment, and informed her that, all hope of pardon now being lost, she had determined to effect Lord Nithisdale's escape.

'This,' she said, 'is the last night before his execution;' and then passionately appealed to her feelings to assist her in the attempt she meditated, by accompanying her at once to the Tower, in order that Lord Nithisdale might escape in one of her dresses, for which scheme she had arranged every detail.

A coach was called, and they, with a Mrs. Morgan, started for the Tower, Lady Nithisdale talking all the way, for fear they should have time for reflection, and change their minds. As they drove along, she explained the details of her scheme—namely, that Mrs. Morgan was to wear over her own clothes, a dress of Mrs. Mills (who was a large woman), for Lord Nithisdale to put on, with other disguise, and pass the wardens.

'On our arrival,' says Lady Nithisdale, 'I first brought in Mrs. Morgan, calling her a friend of my lord's, come to take leave of him. When Mrs. Morgan had taken off the dress of Mrs. Mills, which she had brought for my purpose, I conducted her back to the staircase, and, in going, I begged her to send my maid to dress me, as I was afraid of being too late to present my last petition that night, if she did not come immediately. I went partly down stairs to meet Mrs. Mills, with handkerchief to her face, as was natural for a person going so take a last leave of a friend before his execution, and I had desired her to do this that my lord might go out in the same manner.

'I had got an artificial head dress of the same colored hair as her's, and roughed his face and cheeks, to conceal his beard, which he had not time to shave. All this provision I had before left in the Tower. The guards, whom my liberality the day before had endeared me to, let me go quietly out with my company, and were not so strictly on the watch as usual, as they were persuaded from what I had told them the day before that the prisoners would obtain their pardon. I made Mrs. Mills take off her hood and put on that which I had bought for her. I then took her by the hand and led her out by my lord's chamber; and in passing through the next room, in which were several people, with all the concern imaginable, I said: 'My dear Mrs. Catharine, go in all haste and send me my waiting maid; she certainly cannot reflect how late it is. I am to present my petition to-night, and if I let slip this opportunity, I am undone, for to-morrow is too late. Hasten her as much as possible, for I shall be on thorns till she comes.'

'When I had seen her safe out, I returned to my lord and finished him. I had taken care that Mrs Mills did not go out crying, as she came in, that my lord might better pass for the lady who came in crying and afflicted; and the more so, as he had on the same dress that she wore. When I had almost finished dressing my lord, I perceived it was growing dark, and was afraid that the light of the candles might betray us, so I resolved to get off. I went out leading him by the hand, while he held his handkerchief to his eyes. I spoke to him in the most piteous and afflicted tone, bewailing bitterly the negligence of my maid Evans, who had ruined me by her delay. Then I said: 'My dear Mrs. Betty, for the love of God, run quickly and bring her with you—you know my lodging; and if you ever made dispatch in your life do it at present. I am almost distracted with the disappointment.'

'The guards opened the door, and I went down stairs with him, still conjuring him to make all possible dispatch. As soon as he had cleared the door, I made him walk before me, for fear the sentinel should take notice of his walk, but I continued to press him to make all the dispatch he possibly could. At the bottom of the stairs I met my dear Evans, into whose hands I confided him.

'They went home together, and having found a place of security, brought Lord Nithisdale to it. In the meantime, as I had pretended to have sent the young lady on a message, I was obliged to return up stairs and go back to my lord's room in the same feigned anxiety of being too late, so that everybody seemed sincerely to sympathize in my distress. When I was in the room I talked as if he had been really present. I answered my own questions in my lord's voice as nearly as I could imitate it, and walked up and down, as if we were conversing together, till I thought they had time thoroughly to clear themselves of the guards. I then thought proper to make off also. I bade my lord formal farewell for the night and added that, if the Tower was then open, I would return that night, but that he might be assured I would be with him as early in the morning as I could gain admittance, and I flattered myself I should bring more favorable news.

'I then went out; and as I passed, told the servant that he need not carry the candles to his master until my lord sent for them, as he desired to finish some prayers first.'

The Earl was led to a garret in an obscure part of London, and after a time sheltered at the Venetian Ambassador's, till an opportunity offered to reach Dover in that envoy's carriage.

The Countess, after boldly proceeding to Scotland to secure some valuable papers, returned to London, defying all efforts to arrest her, and at last joined her husband at Rome where both died some years after.

Coronation of Peter the Great. (1682.)

From Eugene Schuyler's historical serial, "Peter the Great," Scribner for April, we take this account of the joint coronation of Peter the Great and his half-brother Ivan as Tsars.

On the evening of the 4th of July, 1682, there was a grand vesper service in all the churches, and especially in the Cathedral of the Assumption, where it was celebrated by the Patriarch Kir Joachim, attended by all the superior clergy. During the night a square platform, raised on twelve steps, was erected in the middle of the Cathedral, immediately under the dome, and covered with crimson cloth. From this platform to the chancel, the pavement was spread with red cloth, on which two strips of scarlet velvet were laid for the Tsars, and a strip of blue velvet for the Patriarch. On each side were raised seats for the clergy, covered with Persian carpets and cloth-of-gold. On the centre platform a double throne was erected. There had not been time to make entirely fresh regalia for the double coronation, and the silvered gilt throne of handsome workmanship made for the Tsar Alexis was divided by a bar in the middle, so that it could be used by the two boys. Behind, a seat was placed, so that the monitor of Peter, through the whole in the back could whisper to him the necessary responses. The crown, sceptre, originally presents from Constantine Monomachus, Emperor of the East, to the Grand Duke Vladimir of Kief, had been imitated in smaller size, and at less expense for the use of Peter. The old historic ones, with which all the Tsars had been crowned, were reserved for Ivan. This was the last time they were ever used. The successors of Peter were Emperors; not Tsars; and the crown and Pectoral cross of Monomachus, the visible symbols of the relations of the Muscovite Tsars to the emperors of Constantinople, are now mere curiosities in the Imperial treasury at Moscow. On the left side of this throne was a third throne for the Patriarch, the spiritual emperor. This too was used for the last time. The power of the clergy was to be diminished, and the rule of the Patriarch to be broken.

In the chancel were placed six reading desks, two lower than the rest, covered with satin embroidered with jewels, on which were to be placed the crown and scepter and the pectoral cross of Monomachus, containing a relic of the true cross.

At the first dawn of day, on the 6th of July, the bells began to ring joyfully and there was a great procession of the clergy from all the churches. At 5 o'clock the two boys went to the Palace Chapel for Matins and then in procession to the banqueting-hall. Here, in the honor of the day, they promoted to the rank of boyar Prince Andrei Havansky. Larion Miloslavsky and Tmelf were made okolnitchi, and Hitrovo Pushechnikof appointed privy-councillors. The Tsars wore long robes of cloth-of-gold covered with lace and fringes, broad sleeves, and caps set with precious stones. Not only were their robes cut from the same piece, but the candles they held were of the same length that there might be no inequality. Select boyars were then sent to the treasury to fetch the cross, the crown, the scepters and the other regalia, which were brought in by priests, and then carried to the Cathedral of the Assumption, where they were received by the Patriarch and the superior clergy on gold dishes, and placed on the lecterns prepared for them. On entering the banqueting-hall the boyars informed the Tsars that all was ready, and then a long procession—beginning with the inferior officials, rising to the highest boyar, then to the Tsars, and gradually diminishing again to the petty officials and nobles—went slowly down the Red Staircase, from the banqueting-hall to the Cathedral of the Assumption, over a path made on the pavement by crimson cloth, sprinkled by priests with holy water, through the dense masses of the populace which filled the whole square. At the entrance of the Cathedral, the Tsars were met by the Patriarch, who wished them long life and held them the cross to kiss. After kissing the great pictures on the altar-screen, especially the Virgin painted by St. Luke, the Tsars took their places on the platform. Standing here in this old cathedral, crowded with their subjects, the gilded walls and pillars of which, lighted up by flickering candles, displayed the rude pictures of saints and martyrs, under the great central dome, from which looked down the gigantic image of our Savior, with hands upraised in the act of blessing, the Tsars, after reciting the story of their accession to the throne, demanded of the Patriarch the rite of consecration and coronation. The Patriarch in reply, asked to what faith they belonged. They answered: "To the holy orthodox Russian faith," and set forth in a long speech, the good which they expected to do their people. Then, after hymns and prayers, and swinging of censers, the Patriarch placed on their heads the crown of Monomachus, threw over their shoulders the coronation vestments, placed on their breasts the pectoral cross, gave the scepters and globes into their hands, and then, when all had again taken their seats, ascended the pulpit and preached a sermon upon the mutual duties of Tsar and people. Then followed the mass, during which the Tsars, in sign of their being priests as well as kings, went within the chancel behind the altar-screen, and administered to themselves the Eucharist with their own hands. When the service was over, the Tsars again kissed the true cross, the relics and the holy pictures, and with the nobles went in procession to the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael, where they paid reverence to the tombs of their ancestors, the Tsars who are buried there, and especially to that of the Tsarevitch Dimitri, who had already been canonized and of whose death recent events must have often made them think. From there they went to the Cathedral of the Annunciation, then to the banqueting-hall of the palace, where they received congratulations. Two days later occurred the great official banquet of the coronation.

"The Literary Success of the Century."

An eminent English authority recently pronounced Scribner's Monthly "The greatest literary success of the century." The New England Journal of Education says: "America may well be proud of such a magazine." The Illustrated London News considers it "one of the marvels of the day." The London Illustrated (Penny) Paper says: "With its inimitably finished gems of drawing and engraving, it is the wonder and admiration of the art world."

The April number just issued ends the XIXth volume, which is exceptionally brilliant. The New York Evening Post, Hartford Courant, and other papers, speak of the series by Eugene Schuyler on "Peter the Great," as the most notable event in modern magazine literature." The style is so simple and yet so graphic that it interests not only men of letters but the young, and is read as a text book in the schools. It is understood that the causes and beginnings of Nihilism in Russia will be treated by Mr Schuyler in the course of his narrative.

Rev. Dr. Eggleston writes of Mr. George W. Cable and his story, "The Grandissimes," in Scribner: "If Cable can hold that gait, the rest of us who write American stories must surrender to him. What a superb piece of work it is!"

Scribner's is the only American periodical that has as yet established a large circulation abroad; the edition in England being 10,000. It now enters upon its second decade, and the work of winning a second hundred thousand at home. Its readers to-day are estimated at more than half a million.

The publishers of Scribner announce that all new subscribers after this date who take the back numbers, beginning November last, will receive instead of the six unbound numbers the bound volume, November, '79, to April, '80 (containing all of "success with Small Fruits," and the opening chapters of "Peter the Great," "The Grandissimes," and "Louisiana"), without extra charge. The subscription price is $4.00 a year.

A Good Housewife.

The good housewife, when she is giving her house its spring renovating, should bear in mind that the dear inmates of her house are more precious than many houses, and that their systems need cleansing by purifying the blood, regulating the stomach and bowels to prevent and cure the diseases arising from spring malaria and miasma, and she must know that there is nothing that will do it so perfectly and surely as Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. Joseph H. Grey, who was ten years ago a member of the Reading police force, mysteriously disappeared, and the untiring efforts of his wife to discover his whereabouts have since proved futile. About a year ago the father of Mr. Gray died near Pennsburg, Montgomery county, and the son so strangely lost is entitled to about $6,000 as his share of his estate. Recently a petition of Mrs. Grey in the Berks county court, setting forth the facts and asking that a trustee be appointed for his estate was presented, and under the presumption of law that a man is dead in seven years from the time he was last actually heard from, the prayer of the petition was granted. Gen. Jesse H. Grey, of Upper Hanover township, Montgomery county, who is a brother of the lost man, was appointed trustee, and ordered to give bail in the sum of $14,000. If this Joseph H. Grey is still alive, the fact that this nice little pile of money is waiting him, may cause him to appear again.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE.—The embellishment in the April number of the Eclectic is a fine steel engraved portrait of Professor Simon Newcomb, the eminent astronomer and mathematician; and a brief, but sufficient, sketch of his life accompanies the portrait. The literary contents of the number are of the usual variety and excellence, and comprise the following articles: "The Reign of Queen Anne," a review of Dr. Barton's new history; "On the Pedigree of Man: a dialogue between a Clergyman and a Professor;" "Paganism in Paris," by Pere Hyacinthe; "What is Jupiter Doing?" by Henry J. Slack; An "Arcadian Revenge," by James Payn; "A Ghost (After Herrick);" "White Wings: A Yachting Romance," by William Black, chapters XXXIII. to XXV.; "Alpine Flowers and Birds;" Henry Thomas Buckle," by G. A. Simcox; "Jenny Blaker," a humorous poem; "Mademoiselle de Mersac;" White Rajah," an interesting biographical sketch of the late Sir James Brooke; "My Journal in the Holy Land," by Mrs. Brassey (concluding paper); "A Treasury of English Sonnets;" and "A Night Watch." Besides these separate papers, there are well filled editorial departments of "Literary Notices," "Foreign Literary Notes," "Science and Art," and "Varieties."

MEETING OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

There will be a meeting of the Democratic Standing Committee on Monday April 12th 1880, at the Exchange Hotel, Bloomsburg, at one o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of electing delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held at Harrisburg on the 28th. A full attendance is requested.

G. A. Clark, Secretary. D. Lowenberg, Chairman.

All of the bribery convicts except Kemble appeared in Harrisburg last Monday, and entered new bail for their appearance at the next session of the court for sentence.

The unanimous verdict of the press is that Judge Patterson, of Lancaster county, in his action in dismissing from the bar Messrs Steinman & Hensel, for certain publication made as editors of the Intelligencer, has made a ridiculous muss of it. The supreme court will undoubtedly sustain the decision of the press.

The Republican backs water as usual, and admits the falsity of its malicious assertions by trying to crawl out of a very small hole. Everybody who can read and understand English knows that the valedictory of the retiring editor published last fall referred only to his personal connection with this paper, while the remarks of the remaining editor were written in the same manner, and as such, meant just what it said. If the Republican thinks it can make capital for itself out of these misrepresentations, it is welcome to it.

A HUSBANDS WRONGS AVENGED BY A MOB.

CHICAGO, March 25.—A special to the Times from Oconomowoc, Wis., reports that Rasmus Larker, of Waukesha county, was tarred and feathered there last night by a mob of masked citizens. Larker had been the lover of a Miss Forre of that county until she married Albert Stielow, of Milwaukee, it is alleged, for his money. After her marriage she kept up her intimacy with Larker and finally deserted Stielow and went to live with Larker. This aroused the wrath of the citizens, which culminated in the tarring and feathering last night.

We clip the above item from a dispatch to the Associated Press. Larker's crime is not a rare or peculiar one. It is of daily occurrence, and it is fair to presume that where one comes to light, hundreds are suppressed. As a rule we are opposed to Lynch law,—certainly in all cases where justice can be meted out out through the forms of law. But this cannot always be done, and the people, in self defence, must then take the law into their own hands. This is particularly the case on our western frontiers, and among newly discovered gold or silver regions. Desperadoes of all classes flock thither. Courts, if established, are sometimes too weak to execute the law, and sometimes judges, juries and jailors are easily tampered with. The Vigilantes of California did more to purify that State than the courts, and to-day the secret citizens' committee does more to suppress violence than courts or the ballot box. True, Judge Lynch may not always be unerring. Neither are the courts.

But the way to suppress crime is not only to have the laws strictly enforced, but they should be severe enough to deter the criminal.

Now there are a certain class of crimes for which the law does not prescribe adequate punishment, and the fact is a disgrace to our civilization. For instance, parents rear tenderly and carefully a daughter. She is their pride and hope. But in an evil hour the tempter comes in human guise. He may be handsome, of pleasing address, well connected, and she listens to his honied words and sworn protestations. Either through devoted love, faith in his pledges, or hopes of escaping the common drudgeries of life for the ease and comforts promised her, the girl yields, and is ruined for life. The hearts of her parents are broken. She is an outcast from society; sneered at by those of her sex who have been more rigid, or if not, have concealed it better.

Sometimes the outraged woman, or infuriated father or brother, despairing of justice by legal methods, takes the law into his own hands and another crime is added to the calendar. Sometimes the victim is driven to suicide, often to infanticide, and in many instances to a life of prostitution, and an innocent child, if it survives, has an inheritance of shame, which a noble life can hardly efface.

The man, on the contrary, is the hero of his envious set, plans new conquests, and perhaps marries into some respectable family, which calls his crime "sowing a little wild oats."

But what is his punishment? A mild law permits him, if impecunious, to become a "gentleman" boarder at the county jail, for three months where he is lionized by visits and presents from relatives and admirers from both sexes. He then goes scot free. Or, wishing to travel, he goes among distant friends and awaits events; perhaps settles down, or compromises his crime. Another young man with means of his own, or with well-to-do and adoring parents, who of course blame the girl, pays a nominal fine, and a few dollars a month for a limited time. Of course the case is worse when the tempter enters the family circle; when the most sacred ties are broken, and wife, perhaps children, are left alone in the world, and sometimes destitute. Men may laugh and women smile at the ruin made, but they cannot know the evil wrought. The guilty are seldom punished as the records of the courts show, and no wonder an outraged community sometimes resort to the mild punishment of a coat of tar and feathers.

If our Christians would be half as vigorous in trying to get severer laws enacted and in seeing them executed as they are in suppressing intemperance, it would speak better for them, and go far to suppress the evils complained of. But then, in too many instances; they would have to begin at home.

—There is quite a buzz in Franklin county over the alleged miracle concerning a sixteen-year-old lad who was paralytic. About a year ago he became deeply religious, and prayed long and fervently, his supplications frequently being heard all over the house. Lately the family were summoned and the lad said: "God, through the mercy of Christ, has not only blessed my soul, but has healed my body. Then, making an effort to rise, he said: "I must get up," and in a moment the poor bedridden boy was sitting upright in their midst, whatever the cause, a great and sudden physical improvement in the boy's case is well vouched for.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D C. April 6th, 1880.

Two interesting subjects were disposed of in the House yesterday, and the final settlement of one of them will do much to facilitate the transaction of public business. I refer to the celebrated transaction of Mr. Weaver, which has stared at the Speaker on every occasion for months, whether resolutions were in order or not. Until yesterday the Speaker has refused to face the resolution. When Mr. Weaver was pointing the resolution at the Speaker, the Speaker was looking earnestly in some other direction. The anxious Mr. Weaver and his resolution became a joke for the gallery Gods. Yesterday the Speaker "saw" Mr. Weaver, and the resolution was voted down by 117 nays to 85 yeas. The resolution declares in substance that all money shall be issued by the Government, not by banking institutions, and should be a full legal tender for all debts; and that the U. S. bonds becoming due next year should not be refunded, but be paid as fast as possible, and that to enable the government to meet these obligations the mints of the country should be operated to their full capacity in the coinage of the Standard silver dollar.

The other affair which is, I trust finally settled, is the Manning-Springer difficulty, growing out of the latter's refusal to vote to seat Donnelly in place of Washburne, from the third Minnesota District.

The trouble was wholly unnecessary, not a member of the House believed that Congressman Springer was corruptly influenced.

An attempt was made yesterday to suspend the rules of the House and pass a bill removing duties from certain articles, a two two thirds vote was required, and was not secured. This is considered, I find, a test vote, and those who favor reduction are without hope of success during this session. The articles included in the bill were salt, printing paper, &c., and on these, if on any, the necessary votes could have been secured.

The more influential Senators, are, as is well known, Grant men, just why men like Edmunds, Carpenter and Conkling, should be for Grant is not plain. Perhaps they take to him as a choice of evils, preferring him to Blaine or Sherman. The result is the same. With these men opposed to him Blaine will not bulldoze his way along in the Senate, this year as he did years ago.

HILTON.

—There is a reported conspiracy at Ephrata on the part of some well known parties to possess themselves of the title and property, real and personal belonging to the society of Dunkers, whose institution is located there. A similar attempt was made in 1845 by one who was connected with the society and held a high position in it, but he was expelled, and the matter ended in his removal to another state. So far the attempt has been defeated by the court, the members having appealed to it for protection.

—Robert Bonner has given $10,000 to Princeton College, to aid in purchasing a telescope. The instrument, which will cost $25,000, has just been ordered.

—Mr. John B. Gough is reported as saying that drunkenness has increased in this country in the last twenty years, and that there are now more ministers drinking and more women drinking than ever before.

See a woman on horseback in another column, riding near Speer's Vineyards, with a bunch of Grapes from which Speer's Port Grape Wine is made, that is so highly esteemed by the medical profession for the use of invalids weakly persons and the aged.

—No longer can the marvels of science be wondered at, and the announcement that Dr. Siemens, the celebrated Anglo-German man of science, has discovered that the electric light has power to produce vegetation must be received at least without a laugh. He thinks that he has proved that electric light will promote the ripening of fruit and grain in the open air: in other words that the vegetable products of the earth need no rest, as man does, but they can work away at growing without cessation, contrary to the generally received opinion.

STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER

Have fairly opened the business of the Spring Season with a stock of Dry Goods contracted for last year, aggregating about

ONE MILLION DOLLARS

At the low values then prevailing, but worth much more to-day.

While our present interest would be largely served by securing the advance which has taken place, as is usually done and as we might do easily and with entire justice, we have decided that it is to our ultimate advantage to distribute all this stock among our customers at about last year's figures—looking more to the future in the establishment of permanent relations with our patrons than to present profit.

It is impossible to name a tithe of the goods in our Thirty-Three Departments, which include everything that can be desired for personal attire or housekeeping needs.

IN SILKS AND DRESS GOODS

Especially, we have a stock rarely equaled and never surpassed.

Besides the great array of seasonable novelties which space does not permit us to name, we have an immense stock of

STAPLE AND POPULAR FABRICS

Adapted to the wants of all who desire

GOOD GOODS AT MEDIUM PRICES.

We name:

THE COLUMBIAN.

BLOOMSBURG, FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1880

How do you like your new home?

Work on the water works has begun.

A stylish hat for girls is called the "boom."

Mr. F. S. Hunt of Berwick spent Tuesday in town.

George Brown has leased the Central Hotel.

The town council was sworn in last Monday.

Deputy Sheriff Fritz has moved into the house of Mr. Pursell on Market street.

Wellington Riswick, of Nanticoke, was in town on Monday.

We are informed that there are thirty families without houses in Berwick.

An unusual amount of advertising has crowded our reading matter this week.

Grant Herring, student of Lafayette College has been spending a short vacation at home.

The Episcopal Sunday school has recently purchased about three hundred new books for its library.

The catching of bass between the first of January and the first of June is prohibited by the Act of 1878.

George M. Kester, of Berwick, made us a friendly call on Saturday last. Call again George.

William Miller, of Canby, has been a subscriber of the COLUMBIAN and its predecessors for forty years.

The new term of the Normal School commenced on Monday of this week with a full attendance.

"Scoop in" your bivalves now. 'Tis your last chance as this is the last month of the oyster season.

Some one says that cremation is a recently adopted method of firing people out of this world.

George Derr and wife, of Limestoneville, were guests of Wm. H. Jacoby one day last week.

Joseph Lehr, of Beaver township, died on Sunday night last, after an illness of several months. He was about sixty-five years of age.

J. D. Wilson has removed his leather and shoefinding store to Shive's block Main Street Bloomsburg Sharpless seedling Strawberry plants, 80cts. per 100, $5. per 1,000 at J. Garrison's Bloomsburg.

Judge Elwell held a special session of court this week, for Judge Ingham, in Sullivan county.

Matthew Quick has moved to town from Rupert, and is occupying one of Mr. Wynkoop's houses on Third Street.

Photographers Snyder and Rosenstock have exchanged locations. Snyder occupies rooms in Clark's building, and Rosenstock in Shive's building.

The new Board of Directors of Bloom Poor district was organized last week. J. B. Robison Esq. was appointed solicitor, J. K. Grotz, treasurer, and L. B. Rupert, secretary.

The superintendents of county, city and borough schools will hold a convention at Harrisburg beginning April 20th and continuing three days.

Applications for positions on the police force to be appointed by the new council are by no means scarce. There is little money, in it but plenty of honor.

Through the courtesy of Hon. Robert Klotz, we acknowledge the receipt of the Compendium of the Ninth Census from the Department of of the Interior.

There were more movings in town this April than there have been for years. Quite a number of new families have taken up their abode here.

Hughesville has no licensed hotels. All applications were refused by the Court in accordance with remonstrances filed by a large number of its citizens. What will they do for liquor now?

A little daughter of Wellington Risewick, of Nanticoke, was interred here on Tuesday of this week. The cause of her death was inflamation of the bowels.

C. P. Fowler, who left here some weeks ago as Advance Agent of the Osborne Comedy Co., has returned home, the troupe having disbanded and went to New York, where it will be reorganized and put under new management. Mr. Fowler will resume his position after the reorganization of the company.

On Thursday night last, the "cooler" was decorated with a boisterous, drunken, one-legged tramp. He apparently did not appreciate the kindness of Mr. Woodward in accommodating him with lodgings of that kind, for we understand he indignantly refused to pay his fine next morning.

The citizens of Hazleton are talking of calling a public meeting to take measures to set off the advantages of the locality as a manufacturing centre. This course is being pursued by towns throughout the Lehigh and Wyoming valleys, and in several instances bids fair to be fruitful in good results.

J. P. and T. H. Shoemaker, of Lycoming county, were arrested by Deputy U. S. Marshal Geddis, of this place, for selling liquor without paying the special tax required by law. On Sunday last, they were given a hearing before U. S Commissioner Smith, and bound over to the U. S. Circuit Court.

H. D. Appleman, a widely-known and well-to do farmer of Hemlock township, departed this life on Tuesday last He had been suffering all winter with a complication of diseases, but was not considered in any immediate danger. On Tuesday morning he was out doors, and in the afternoon suddenly became worse and died He was about fifty years of age. The funeral services take place at 10 o'clock, Friday morning.

ADVICE TO THOSE IN DEBT.—Make a full estimate of all you owe, and of all that is owing to you. Reduce the same to a note. As fast as you collect, pay over to those you owe If you cannot pay renew your notes every year, giving the best security you can. Go to business diligently and be industrious. Waste no idle moments; be very economical in all things; discard all pride; be faithful in your duty to God, by regular and hearty prayer, morning and night; attend church every Sunday, and do unto all men as you would they should do unto you.

If you are too needy in circumstances to give to the poor, do whatever else in your power cheerfully; but, if you can do so, help the poor and unfortunate.

Pursue this course diligently for seven years and if you are not happy, comfortable and independent in your circumstances, come to me and I will pay your debts.—BEN. FRANKLIN.

Charles Hagenbuch was in town this week visiting his parents and many friends. He is about opening up a drug store in Shenandoah. Charles is a steady, industrious young man and a good druggist and we wish him success.

An exchange says:—

It is impossible to please every one—while thousands are now chanting the beauties of spring, hundreds of young men, who have to appear in half soled pants because they haven't the cash to replenish their wardrobes are growling because the warm weather compels them to shed their overcoats.

Owing to the large number of articles to be sold, I am still not done selling the goods at my store in Buckhorn at auction. There yet remains a lot of dry goods, notions, hardware, a pair of large platform Fairbanks scales, nearly new. Sale will be continued on Saturday April 10th at one o'clock p. m. at which time a good work horse 7 years old will be offered for sale.

Room in Brower's Block was rented for another year as council room.

Permit to build was granted S. M. Hess.

Adjourned.

ANOTHER CHAPTER OF RASCALITY.

The recent arrest, preliminary hearing and commitment for forgery of a man named Ira Comstock are still fresh in the minds of our readers. Yesterday developed another chapter of rascality in Comstock's career. It seems that his mother and sister live in Espy, Columbia county, and that last Summer Comstock's brother came there from Newark, N. J., bringing with him a wife and two children. This brother was in the last stages of consumption, and in the course of a few months he died. A week after his death a child was born to his widow, who was thus left with three helpless children to support. Her husband had an insurance of four hundred dollars on his life, and this sum she went to Bloomsburg to receive. As she could neither read nor write, Ira Comstock went with her, and made arrangements with the cashier of the First National Bank at Bloomsburg to draw the money for her as she might need it. After drawing what was needed to pay the funeral expenses and for the widow's return to Newark, there was left in the bank $280, and a check for that amount was filled out and certified by the cashier, and given to Ira Comstock for the widow. She was given by him, however, another check on the Bloomsburg Banking Co. for $100, and at the same time was told by Comstock that if she drew the money inside of six months it would cause her to lose $25 discount. The ignorant woman suspected nothing wrong, and held the check until lately, when on presentation it was pronounced worthless. In the meantime the amount of the genuine check has been drawn out of the bank upon the endorsement of Ira Comstock, who has thus robbed his dead brother's wife and children of the little money left them, for he has not pretended to spend any of that money for their benefit, and as he was led to commit the forgeries here for want of money there can be no doubt of his having spent all the little hoard of the poor widow, to whom he is of course unable to make any restitution.

Comstock's mother and sister still live in Espy, and are respectable worthy women who deserve better luck than to have so worthless a scamp as Ira seems to be for a relative. Friends of the defrauded woman will see to it that Ira, after our own courts are through with him, shall answer for his wrongs to her.—Scranton Republican, of last week

The use of St. Jacob's Oil is indeed followed by the most wonderful results. More than a dozen cases have come to my knowledge, where St. Jacob's Oil effected speedy cures, but I will only mention one instance. A man suffering for twenty-four years from Rheumatism was induced to try the St. Jacob's Oil He used a few bottles of this truly wonderful remedy, and is now entirely well once more.

April 2 1880.

Mr. Editor. Permit space in your interesting and valuable paper for the insertion of a few lines relative to the last Triennial assessment of Columbia county. Before entering upon their offical duties the Assessers are sworn to place a cash valuation on all real estate property. They did so last fall and made their returns according to law. On examining the Assess book this spring we find that the Commissioners have made, in many instances, marked changes. Now we wish to know whether these changes are legal or whether they have been made by the assumption of unauthorized power. If the Commissioners have a lawful right to make some changes we presume they have the same right to alter the assessment. And if they have a right to do this then the Assessment made by the Assessors is useless and should be dispensed with as it would save the county several hundred dollars and a great deal of unnecessary labor. An Assessor who has a personal knowledge of nearly all the property he has to assess is much better prepared to fix a just value upon it than the Commissioners are who have no personal knowledge of the most of the land property of the county. And we think there is a great injustice done many of the land owners by the changes made in the valuation after it has been made by those who have an opportunity to know. We believe that a just valuation should be placed on all property and then make the rate high enough to give the required tax then each tax payer would share his just portion of the burden.

TAX PAYER.

[It is rather late for publication of the above as the assessments have all been made, the books fixed up, and duplicates sent out, but it may be of some good as a reminder to those making future assessments.—ED.]

LADIES CAN "SHOP" BY PENNY POSTAL CARD

Out of town people who cannot conveniently travel, may have samples sent them of Dry Goods and all other goods that we sell, if they will write us. No charge, and no need to order if not suited. We make it a business to attend to such letters quickly; and when orders come we send the exact article wanted, and at exactly same price as other customers pay when here buying in person. When goods are not as ordered, we take them back. Having trained and responsible clerks, who are able to use discretion in filling orders, we are enabled to give great satisfaction to the many customers who leave the choice to us. With a reputation of twenty years at retailing, we cannot afford to lose our good name by lack of proper service to absent customers. Write plainly, and describe fully what is wanted, and about the price desired.

DR. BROWNING is a regular graduate of medicine, a skilled pharmacist, and a thorough chemist. His "C & C" (Cough and Cold) Cordial is not the result of mere chance, but of long scientific research in chemistry and medicine, as is plainly seen by the rapidity of its action and its unparalleled efficacy. The expense in its manufacture is at least five times as great as that of any other medicine upon the market, and yet it is sold at the exceedingly low price of 50c. Sample bottles (for a short time) 10 Cts.

WHAT SEEDS TO PLANT.

Asparagus comes first of all. This should have a place in every garden; it is early, and the system needs it in early spring. If the gardner does not like it, this should be no bar to its cultivation, as his family and visiting friends probably would. Conover's Colossal is the most esteemed. The Rural Register for the year 1878 tells how to produce it of superior quality. Do not fail to plant a bed. One year old roots will save time and come into cutting quicker.

Beans are all important and everybody plants them, but there are so many kinds that the novice is puzzled to choose. For snap or bush beans, the varieties of Wax beans are best; say the German Wax and the York Dwarf Wax. For pole beans choose the Mottled Cranberry, the Concord, and Dreer's Improved Lima. These will prove eminently satisfactory.

Beets that are best for early summer use, are Egyptian or Early Bassano. For winter use take the Long Blood.

Cabbages are all good at all seasons of the year. There are a great number of varieties, some of which are best in particular localities, but for general purposes and most places the following will be found all right: For early Jersey Wakefield is a standard sort; Fottler's Brunswick a little later, is a brumhead and gives great satisfaction wherever planted, and we must not forget the improved American Savoy, a very sweet and tender sort for family use.

Carrots are good as a vegetable, and most excellent pies and puddings are made of them. The Early Short Horn is a good variety.

Cauliflower is a delicious esculent, and is not raised as often as it ought to be; probably from a notion that it is hard to raise. The improved Early Paris is an excellent variety. Henderson's Early Snowball is new and greatly extolled. Lenormand's Short Stem is one of the most reliable kinds in cultivation.

Celery is a most healthful and tooth some morsel, and should never be omitted; it has narcotic properties which are valuable in regulating some disorders of the system. The Boston Market variety will not disappoint the gardener. It is short and solid, and very popular. Plant plenty in order to be able to store a lot for winter use when the heads are very expensive.

Corn is always planted as a matter of course. Early Minnesota is one of the best early kinds. Moore's Early Concord is a handsome and popular kind, recommended by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society Stowell's Evergreen is a standard late variety; it keeps green very late.

Cucumber—Early France and White Spine are booth fine. Long Green is best for pickling.

Egg Plant.—Buy New York purple.

Lettuce—Hanson is sweet, tender and crisp all the year round; it may be sown at any time for a succession, but for the heat of summer some of the Cos varieties are better, being cooler and more crisp.

Melons are cooling and delicious. Skillman's Fine Netted is early and of delicious flavor. Cassaba is larger, green fleshed, melting and delicious. For watermelons Vick's Early is the best early sort. Mountain Sprout, an old standard sort, is good.

Onions—Danvers' Yellow is one of the best; a good cropper. Red Wethersfield is an old standard sort.

Parsnips—The Hollow C is considered superior in quality to most others.

There are a great many varieties, new ones being sent out every year; some good and some so much like old ones that the difference is hardly perceptible; but no one can go amiss who takes Tom Thumb for extra early. For second early choose Kentish Invicta, or McLean's Advancer; for late the old favorite Champion England.

Radishes.—Carter's Long Scarlet and Red Turnip Rooted are good sorts. Sow every two weeks for a succession.

Squash—Early Bush or Summer Crookneck is good for summer use. American Turban is the best of all squshes, and Hubbard is the standard winter variety, although the Butman and the Marblehead are fast growing in popularity.

Tomatoes should be in every garden in profusion. The Canada Victor is very early, full meated and rich; altogether a first rate variety. Trophy is a very popular sort, and later. Be sure and have plenty.

Turnips—Yellow Globe is a good sort for family use or market. White Dutch is a good white fleshed sort, and American Ruta Baga for a swede.

Plants of cabbage, celery, egg plant and tomatoes can be had of seedsmen at the proper season, thus saving time and trouble.

For Potatoes, both sweet and white the locality must be considered, and those varieties planted that do best in the vicinity.

FARM HINTS.

Guinea fowls will keep off bugs and insects of every description from all garden vines. They will not scratch like other fowls, or harm the most delicate plants.

The average butter yield of the Ayrshire cow is one pound from twenty to twenty-five pounds of milk; from the Jersey it is one pound of butter from eighteen pounds of milk.

Turnips are healthful for horses. They should be cut in slices, or what is better pulped finely and mixed with a little meal and salt. Rutbagas are better than white turnips.

A cellar that is cool, dry and dark, and yet well ventilated, is the best place for preserving potatoes, if large quantities are to be preserved there is nothing like dry sand. The same may be said of fruits and roots of all sorts.

Plant tansy at the roots of your plum trees, or hang branches of the plant on the limbs of the trees, and you will not be annoyed with curculio. An old successful fruitgrower furnishes the above, and says it is the most successful curculio preventative he ever tried.

Workingmen.

Before you begin your heavy spring work after a winters relaxation, your system needs cleansing and strengthening to prevent an attack of Ague, Billiousness or Spring Fever, or some other Spring sickness that will unfit you for a season's work. You will save time, much sickness and great expense if you will use one bottle of Hop Bitters in your family this month. Don't wait. See another column.

Plowing land when it is nearly dry is nearly as hurtful as when it is wet. In plowing, the soil should have enough moisture to cause the furrows to fall loosely from the plow with no appearance of packing and no lumps.

To enumerate the miraculous cures wrought by "Dr. Seller's Cough Syrup" would fill a volume. Its cures are marvelous. Price 25 cents.

Charcoal pulverized and mixed with water is highly recommended for relieving cattle suffering from any derangement of the stomach, such as bloat, hoven, etc.

BEST IN THE WORLD!

ABSOLUTELY AND CHEMICALLY PURE.

ARM AND HAMMER BRAND.

CHURCH & CO'S BI-CARB. SODA

AND

SALERATUS

Which is the same thing.

Impure Saleratus or Bi-Carb Soda (which is the same thing) is of a slightly dirty white color. It may appear white, examined by itself, but a COMPARISON WITH CHURCH & CO'S "ARM AND HAMMER" BRAND will show the difference.

See that your Saleratus and Baking Soda is white and PURE, as should be ALL SIMILAR SUBSTANCES used for food.

A simple but severe test of the comparative value of different brands of soda or saleratus is to dissolve a dessert spoonful of each kind with about a pint of water (hot preferred) in clear glasses, stirring until all is thoroughly dissolved The deleterious insoluble matter in the inferior Soda will be shown after settling some twenty minutes or sooner, by the milky appearance of the solution and the quantity of floating flocky matter according to quality.

Be sure and ask for Church & Co.'s Soda and Saleratus and see that their name is on the package and you will get the purest and whitest made. The use of this with sour milk, in preference to Baking Powder, saves twenty times its cost.

See one pound package for valuable information and read carefully.

WINE

Speer's Port Grape Wine!

FOUR YEARS OLD.

This Celebrated Native Wine is made from the juice of the Oporto Grape, raised in this county

Its invaluable

Tonic and Strengthening Poperties

are unsurpassed by any other Native Wine. Being the pure juice of the Grape, produced under Mr. Speer's own personal supervision, its purity and genuineness are guaranteed. The youngest child may partake of its generous qualities, and the weakest invalid use it to advantage. It is particularly beneficial to the aged and debilitated, and suited to the various ailments that affect the weaker sex. It is in every respect A WINE TO BE RELIED ON.

SPEER'S

P. J. Sherry.

The P. J. SHERRY is a Wine of Superior Character, and partakes of the golden qualities of the grape from which it is made. For Purity, Richness, Flavor and Medicinal Properties, it will be found unexcelled.

SPEER'S

P. J. Brandy.

This BRANDY stands unrivaled in this Country being far superior for medicinal purposes.

IT IS A PURE distillation from the grape and contains valuable medicinal properties.

It has a delicate flavor, similar to that of the grapes from which it is distilled, and is in great favor among first-class families.

See that the signature of ALFRED SPEER, Passaic N. J., is over the cork of each bottle.

THE GREAT MEXICAN REMEDY.

Thousands suffering from Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Liver and Kidney Complaints, Scrofula and kindred diseases, will hail with delight this new and wonderful discovery, which is a disease conqueror and health restorer, has no equal in modern medicine. The Great Mexican Remedy was first introduced into California in 1879, where in a few months it effected so many wonderful cures as to create a demand for the medicine from Maine to Florida. It is the only medicine in the world compounded from the native plants, roots and herbs of Mexico. It cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula, to a common blotch, pimple, or eruption, while it clears and beautifies the complexion. In diseases of the Stomach, Blood, Liver and Kidneys it has permanently cured thousands of hopeless cases where all other known remedies had failed. One dose will cure any case of Sick Headache. Two doses will break up any ordinary cough or cold. Persons suffering with Heartburn, Waterbrash, Sour Stomach, Biliousness, Costiveness, Piles, Palpitation of the Heart, Low Spirits, and kindred affections, will find the Mexican Remedy a swift and sure relief. The genuine is placed before the public, under the following name:

Herbaline Bitters the Great Mexican Remedy.

Call on your druggist and get a bottle of the Mexican Remedy, and convince yourself that it is the Best Medicine in the World.

The trade supplied by John Keeshan, Wholesale Druggist, N. W. corner 6th and Walnut streets, Cincinnati, O.

This Syrup Possesses Varied Properties.

It stimulates the Ptyaline in the Saliva, which converts the starch and sugar of the food into glucose. A deficiency in Ptyaline causes Wind and Souring of the food in the stomach. If the medicine is taken immediately after eating the fermentation of food is prevented.

It acts upon the Liver.
It acts upon the Kidneys.
It Regulates the Bowels
It Purifies the Blood.
It Quiets the Nervous System.
It Promotes Digestion.
It Nourishes, Strengthens and Invigorates.
It carries off the Old Blood and makes new.
It opens the pores of the skin and induces Healthy Perspiration.

It neutralizes the hereditary taint, or poison in the blood, which generates Scrofula, Erysipelas, and all manner of skin diseases and internal humors.

There are no spirits employed in its manufacture, and it can be taken by the most delicate babe, or by the aged and feeble, care only being required in attention to directions.

Best Medicine Ever Used.

Eaton, Wyoming county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—I had been troubled for a long time with a Pain in my Stomach, and found no relief until I began using your Indian Blood Syrup. I find it the best medicine in use, and I can recommend it to all, old and young. It saves many dollars in doctors' bills, and one large bottle did me more good than five dollars worth of other medicine.
Mariam Labarr.

An Astonishing Cure.

Monroe, Wyoming county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—I had been afflicted with a Cough, Loss of Appetite and Dyspepsia for ten years. I could not properly attend to my business, and hearing of your justly celebrated Indian Blood Syrup, I resolved to try it, which I did, and in a short time was much improved. I now have a good Appetite, and have enjoyed good health ever since I commenced its use.
J. Labarr.

Sick Headache Cured.

Bowman's Creek, Wyoming county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—I had Sick Headache and by the use of your Indian Blood Syrup I was greatly relieved. I recommend all to try its valuable properties.
J. W. Burnett.

The Remedy did more than she Expected.

Newberry, Lycoming county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—The Indian Blood Syrup did more than I expected it would, and it has cured me of Liver Complaint. I use it as a Medicine and would not be without it.
Mrs. Mary Charman.

Headache and Dizziness.

Williamsport, Lycoming county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—Your Indian Blood Syrup has cured me of Headache, Dizziness and Loss of Appetite, so that I am now able to work in my factory. My wife derived more benefit from its use than from any other medicine.
Henry Russel.

Would not be Without it.

Williamsport, Lycoming county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—The Indian Blood Syrup is the best I ever used and I would not be without it, it is good for all complaints.
John Burkhart.

Diseases of the Stomach.

Eaton, Wyoming county, Pa.
Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I had a Weak Stomach and could eat no meat or any hearty food whatever. By a friend's advice I commenced the use of your Indian Blood Syrup, which after a short trial, effectually relieved me and I can now eat anything I choose. Your Syrup gives universal satisfaction.
Elizabeth Rudsall.

All that it is recommended to be.

Opera House, Columbia, Pa.
Dear Sir:—I have used your excellent Indian Blood Syrup and it has proven all as represented. I can recommend it to all.
Wm. Rodgers,

BLOOMSBURG STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

SIXTH NORMAL SCHOOL DISTRICT.

Bloomsburg, Columbia County, Pennsylvania.

Rev. D. J. WALLER, Jr., A. M., Principal.

THIS SCHOOL, as at present constituted, offers the very best facilities for Professional and Classical learning.

Buildings spacious, inviting and commodious; completely heated by steam, well ventilated, lighted by gas, and furnished with a bountiful supply of pure, soft spring water.

Location healthful, and easy of access. Teachers experienced, efficient, and alive to their work. Discipline, firm but kind, uniform and thorough. Expenses moderate. Fifty cents a week deduction to all expecting to teach. Students admitted at any time. Rooms reserved when desired.

Courses of study prescribed by the State:

I. Model School. II. Preparatory. III. Elementary. IV, Classical.

Adjunct Courses: I. Academic. II. Commercial. III. Course in Music. IV. Course in Art. V. Course in Physical Culture.

The Elementary, Scientific and Classical Courses are PROFESSIONAL, and students graduating therein, receive State Diplomas, conferring the following corresponding Degrees: Master of the Elements; Master of the Sciences; Master of the Classics. Graduates in the other Courses receive Normal Certificates of their attainments, signed by the Officers of the Board of Trustees.

The course of study prescribed by the State is liberal, and the Scientific and Classical courses are not inferior to those of our best Colleges.

The State requires a higher order of citizenship. The times demand it. It is one of the prime objects of this School to help to secure it, by furnishing intelligent and efficient Teachers for her Schools. To this end it solicits young persons of good abilities and good purposes,—those who desire to improve their time and their talents, as students. To all such it promises aid in developing their powers, and abundant opportunities for well paid labor after leaving School. For Catalogue, address the Principal.

HON. WILLIAM ELWELL, President Board of Trustees. F. P. BILLMYER, Secretary.

THE HARPETTE! Is a new instrument which meets a want long felt by the public. The delicious music of the Harp is here produced by any man, woman or child, even though entirely ignorant of music. The strings are numbered from one to ten, and the music sheet which accompanies the instrument is numbered in like manner instead of being printed in notes. Everybody appreciates the music of the harp; it is the king of musical instruments, and the Harpette is a perfect harp in miniature—the same delightful tones—and should be in every family in the land. Any one who can read this advertisement can play it at once as well as the most accomplished musician. Elegantly finished, and an ornament to any room. We also send with it a large lot of music numbered as explained above, "Home Sweet Home," "Sweet Bye and Bye," "Old Folks at Home," "Hold the Fort," and all the favorite melodies of the day. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed. Every one who purchases one endorses them and recommends them to their neighbors. Think of it—no more tedious months of study to master music. Here is a superb musical instrument, all ready for use and requiring no practice to play perfectly, need of often, and the HARPETTE will stay a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Sent prepaid in a registered package (which ensures absolute safe delivery) on receipt of price $2.00. Remit by postal money order or registered letter.
